

Section 2.1.3: Agencies, Boards and Commissions

In addition to larger departments, State of Arizona agencies, boards and commissions serve as primary recipients of grant funds received by the State of Arizona. These entities research grant opportunities, develop applications for those opportunities vetted for pursuance and manage all aspects of the grants once awarded. The agencies frequently use grant funding to directly support their respective missions and operations, but some agencies also serve as grantors and pass through funding via subgrants to local entities. In these cases, the state entity serves both as a grantee receiving the funds and as a grantor subgranting the funds to others.
